Team Project

- Target Audience
  - Set a clear, specific goal to provide information tailored to a particular audience rather than a typical university homepage.
  - Examples: prospective students, first-year students, upperclassmen taking general education courses, graduating students, alumni, parents, etc.

- Topics
  - Any topic related to Handong Global University is acceptable.
  - This can go beyond basic school information or admissions topics covered in assignments, and can include highly creative or futuristic themes.
  - Examples: all worship services at Handong, buildings, walking trails, art and music performances, Handong Global University 50 years in the future, etc.

- Important Notes
  - You may use content from the Handong University homepage, various school-related websites, Instagram, YouTube channels, and similar sources. However, in such cases, do not directly insert content. Instead, provide a summary with a citation, along with a link to the original source page (to avoid unauthorized use of content).
  - If you are creating a webpage for prospective students, ensure it is distinct from the Admissions Office page.

Schedule

- Week 10: Forming Teams
  - Form teams of 3~4 members each.

- Weeks 11-15: Website Development
  - Content Planning (HTML) – Creativity, depth of information, and volume
  - UX/UI Design (CSS) – Screen layout (PC/mobile), color schemes, images, readability (fonts, etc.).
  - User Interaction Coding (JavaScript) – Form actions, real-time content updates using JavaScript, etc.
  - Report – Project objectives, user manual, maintenance plans, licensing information, and individual contributions by team members.

- Submission Deadline: Saturday midnight, Week 15

- Week 16: Presentation and Evaluation
  - Presentations split between Tuesday and Friday
  - Peer evaluation of other teams' webpages (via Google Forms)
  - Team contribution (%) evaluation survey among team members (via Google Forms)